

Title Sequence

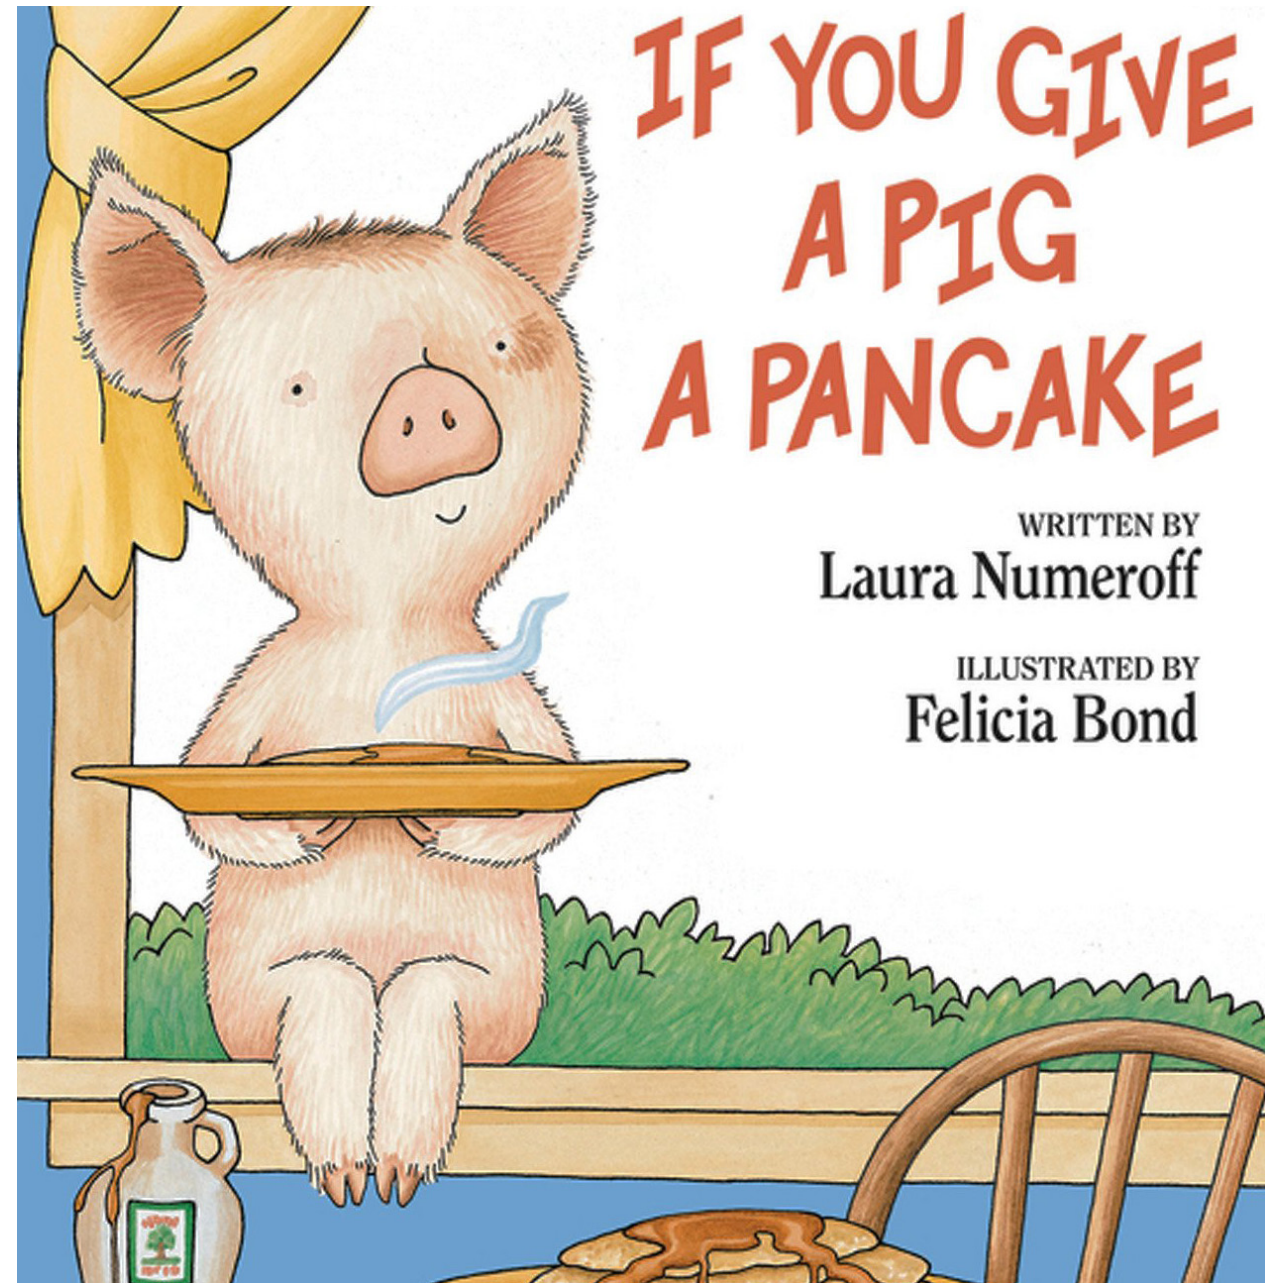

Emily Vagim

GD 157 Motion Graphics

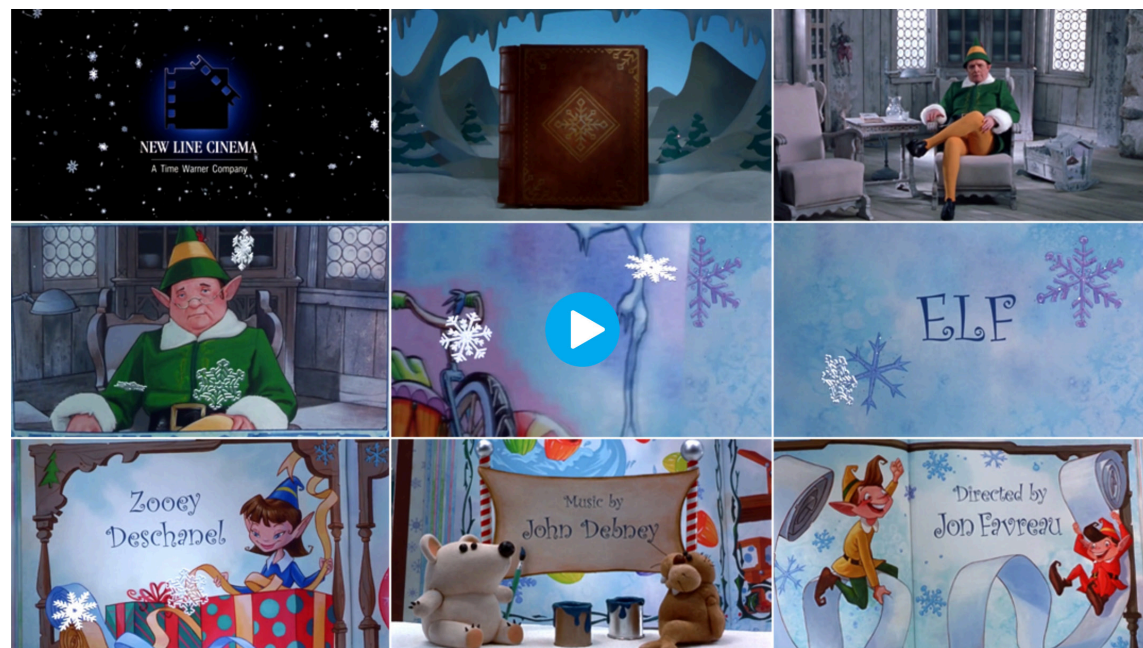

Project Summary

For this project I created a motion graphic title sequence after a book that did not have a television or movie adaptation. I chose to create a title sequence for one of my favorite children's books, If You Give a Pig a Pancake. This story follows one girl's journey after she gives a pig a pancake. My title sequence was designed to narrate how the pancakes were made because the story begins when the pig gets her pancakes.

Visual Research

Elf (2003)

Monsters Inc. (2001)

For my visual research I looked at popular children's movies for inspiration. I was inspired by Elf and Monsters Inc because they used similar paper like animations. Elf's title sequence was cute because it added the puppet pals which inspired me to feature the pig. I liked Monsters Inc because it had the cut paper style that I really enjoyed.

Narration & Script

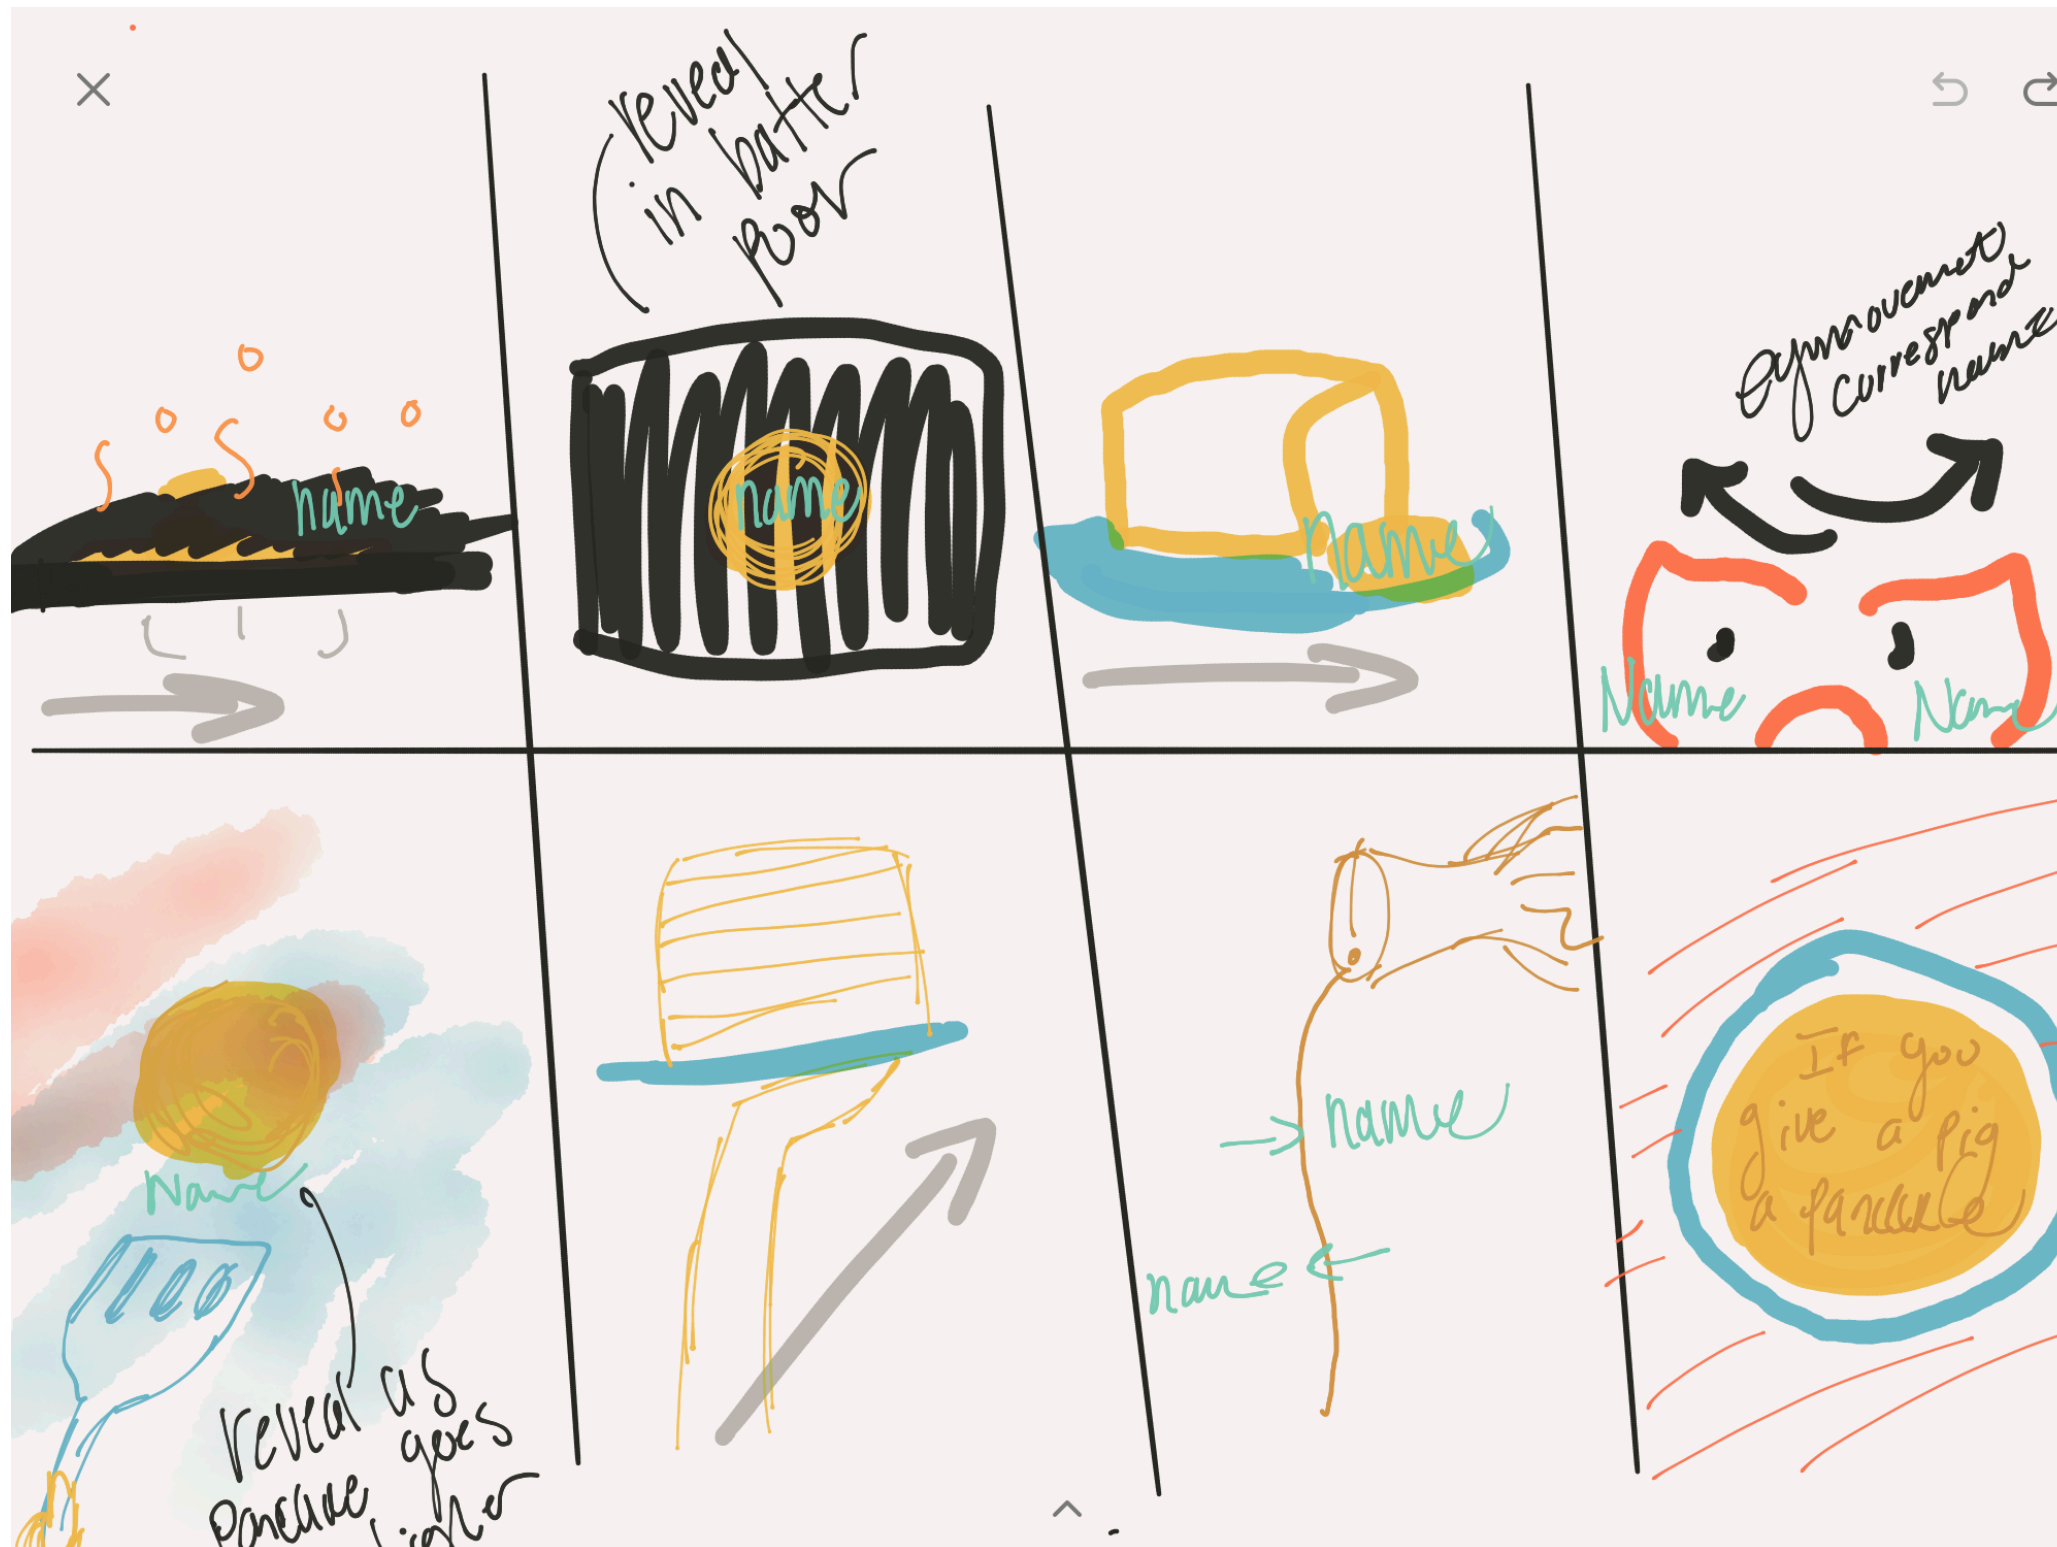

My story for my motion graphic is based around the steps and ingredients to make a pancake. I wanted the title sequence to also serve as a prequel to the actual story so that it would be fun to watch because kids do not care about the actors. If you give a pig a pancake she is going to want a whole lot more from you. The story follows a young girl trying to keep a small pig happy after she feeds her a pancake. The pig then wants to play dress up and visit the farm she grew up on. Eventually through all the pig's wants the pig comes back to her first want of pancakes and syrup.

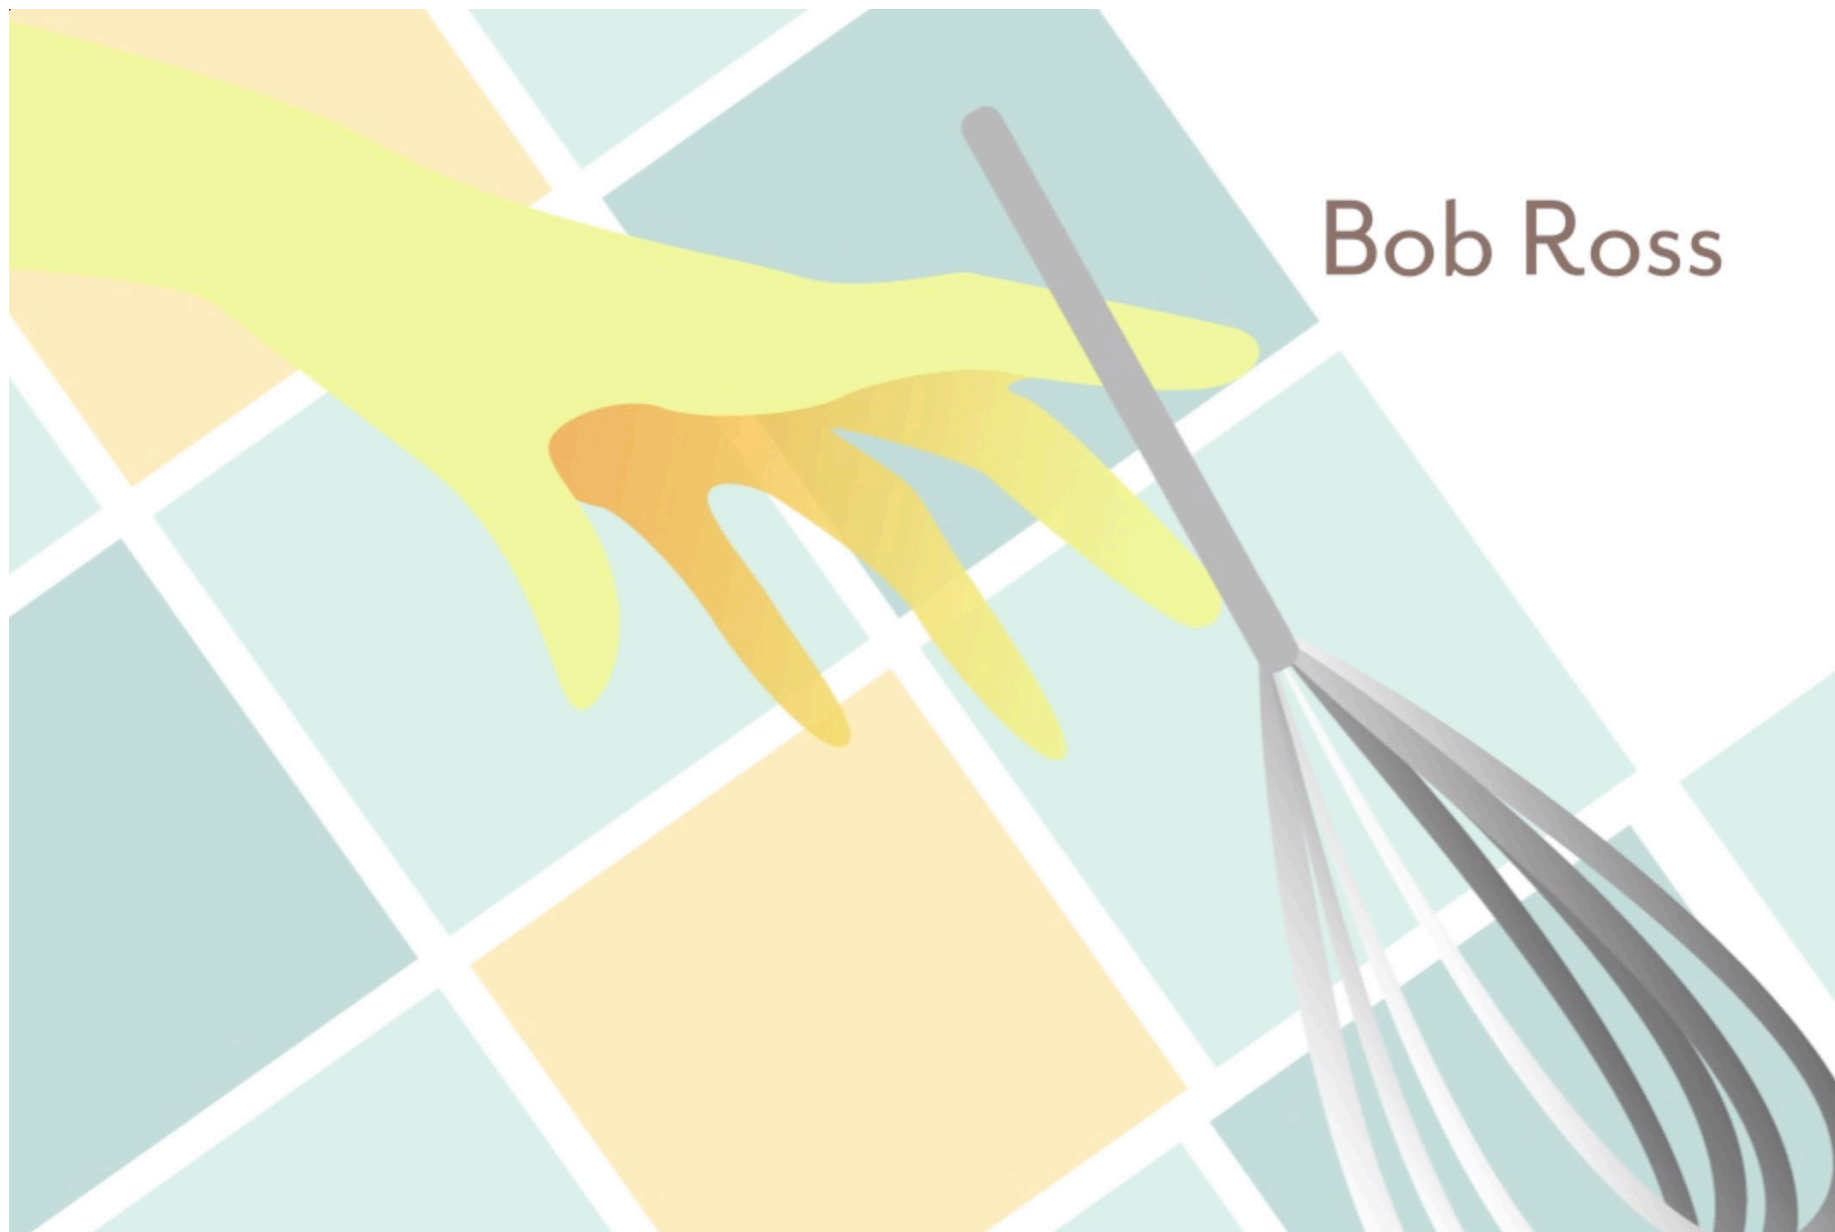

Storyboards

Storyboards

Final Stills

Final Stills

Final Stills

Final Stills

